JERSEY CITY, N.J. (June 8, 2021) – ATALIAN Global Services announced a new partnership with Olympic Tool in bringing illness prevention to the forefront of their return-to-work strategy. We designed this partnership to restore peace of mind with the staff, customers, and vendors when returning to the office.

ATALIAN became a crucial part of Olympic Tool’s health and safety strategy around the COVID-19 pandemic. ATALIAN introduced Olympic Tool to the iWave® Air Purifiers and helped install them into their HVAC units. With iWave® Air Purifiers in place, when air passes over the iWave®, ions produced by the device reduce pathogens, allergens, particles, smoke, and odors in the air, creating a healthy environment without producing any harmful byproducts.

“Our goal at ATALIAN is to help new clients and current clients with their illness prevention strategy,” said Michael Gumiela, Chief Revenue Officer. “When Olympic Tool was looking for a plan to update their space to protect their colleagues, we discussed a few options to help restore their buildings to a healthy and safe environment. It was a privilege to work with Olympic Tool to help them find the best solution for their environment.”

ATALIAN created their Illness Prevention Program to provide a unique resource to assist facilities in reducing illnesses related to many types of organisms with effective surface hygiene intervention. We designed our program to help prevent cross-contamination using hospital-grade disinfectant cleaning products, targeting many organisms, including COVID-19, color-coded microfiber cleaning cloths and mop pads, and cleaning procedures built on CDC and WHO recommendations. In addition to our hygienic cleaning program, we utilize Disinfectant Applications, including tools such as Electrostatic Sprayers, HVAC air purifier attachments, and UVC disinfecting technology. These applications will add a layer of disinfecting protection.

ATALIAN worked hand-in-hand with Olympic Tool to craft the best illness prevention plan for their company and their facilities. Olympic Tool had one main focus: to have their employees return to work in a safe and healthy environment.

“Unfortunately, COVID-19 shut us down in February 2021 as it swept through our offices and forced us to close the company for a couple of weeks. The new iWave® units were installed shortly thereafter. Although I cannot say 100% that they keep us germ-free, the technology is there and working for us. We are still evaluating and have had no issues thus far. I also expect there to be no more issues moving forward. We have engaged with ATALIAN’s cleaning services and germ prevention programs. I have been looking for technology like this to install as a preventative measure to keep our employees healthy. Trying to measure the effectiveness when using such a unit is a difficult task. I do truly believe that this technology is beneficial and will help us in the long run by keeping our employees healthy and reporting to work in a safer environment.” – Ches Crognale, Chief Operating Officer, Olympic Tool & Machine Corp.
